GROVER & BAKER
SEWING-MACHINE COMPANY,
MANUFACTURERS OF
ELASTIC-STITCH AND 'LOCK-STITCH'
SEWING MACHINES

The Grover & Baker Elastic-Stitch Machines

Will hem, fell, cord, bind, tuck, gather, quilt, braid and embroider. They are simple, durable, and not liable to derangement. They sew from ordinary reels, and no re-winding of the thread is necessary. They sew with equal facility all fabrics, the most delicate and the heaviest, and with all kinds of thread, silk, cotton, or linen; their seam is so strong and elastic that it never breaks even on the bias. They fasten both ends of the seam by their own operation. Their seam, though cut at every sixth stitch, remains firm, and neither runs or ravel in wear. Their seam is plump and beautiful, and retains its plumpness and beauty after washing better than any other. Their seam can be removed in altering garments, after proper instruction, without picking or cutting them. Watching and varying the tensions upon the threads, necessary in other machines, is unnecessary in these. The tensions being once adjusted on the Grover & Baker elastic-stitch machine, any amount of sewing may be done without change. They make beautiful embroidery, and are the only machines that both embroider and sew perfectly.

Grover & Baker Shuttle or Lock-Stitch Machines,

Which are comparatively new, combine the good points of former shuttle machines with most important improvements, making them the most simple, perfect, efficient, and durable shuttle or "lock-stitch" machines yet introduced. Hence the universal favour and success of the machines wherever known. For all descriptions of cloth or leather work they have no equal.

The Highest Premiums

Over all competitors, both for machines and machine-work, were taken by the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine Company, in 1863 and 1864, at 31 State and County Exhibitions, in America, where all the other leading machines were placed in competition

Upwards of 100,000 of these Machines are in use in all parts of the World.

TO THE FLOCKOWNERS
 AND NEW ZEALAND.

GENTLEMEN,—We would beg to again draw your attention to the following important facts, having reference to our SOLUBLE SHEEP-DIPPING COMPOSITION. First:—We introduced it in the end of December, 1864, only twenty-seven months ago, since which time the sale has gone on steadily increasing, we having sold since then over one hundred and twenty tons, or sufficient to dip four million eight hundred thousand sheep; we believe that this fact alone ought to stamp its value. Secondly:—We subjoin the certificate of Mr. George Foord, Analytical Chemist, as to the care with which it is made, and in the next page we give a few certificates from men of known standing in this colony. In intimate connection with the above, we would wish to direct your attention to our SOFT SOAP, also to Mr. Foord's report thereon; but more particularly would we wish you to carefully note the letter of our Sydney agent, wherein he says that wool washed with our soap brought one penny per pound more than the same clip washed with hard soap. We also are manufacturers of the strongest liquid Ammonia, which by many is preferred even to soft soap for wool scouring.

We are, Gentlemen, your obedient servants,

HOOD & Co.,

Manufacturing Chemists.

160 ELIZABETH ST., MELBOURNE.

CERTIFICATES.

Melbourne, 4th April, 1866.

Messrs. HOOD & Co., Manufacturing Chemists, Elizabeth street, Melbourne.

GENTLEMEN.—I have examined your Sheep-dipping Composition and am well acquainted with its manufacture. I know it to be carefully prepared, and in my opinion it is eminently qualified for the purpose of curing scab without impairing the texture of the wool.

GEORGE FOORD, F.C.S., London,
 Analytical Chemist, &c., &c.

 Melbourne, 4th April, 1866.

Messrs. HOOD & Co.

GENTLEMEN.—A sample of your Soft Soap was examined by me; it is a pure Soap; it is free from all excess of alkali beyond that essential to proper detergent qualities.

GEORGE FOORD, F.C.S., London,
 Analytical Chemist, &c., &c.

CERTIFICATES—CONTINUED.

Sydney, January 30, 1866.

Messrs. HOOD & Co., Manufacturing Chemists, 160 Elizabeth street, Melbourne.

DEAR SIRS.—I mentioned in my letter of 16th inst. that I had sent some of your Soft Soap to a country customer. I am glad to inform you that he speaks highly in its favour. He says that it makes the wool softer than when washed with hard soap, and that the parcel washed with it brought 1d. per pound more than the same clip did washed with other soap.

178 Pitt street, Sydney.

(Signed) E. H. O'NEILL.

Messrs. LORD, CROAKER, & Co.

Breakfast Creek, March 7, 1866.

GENTLEMEN.—In answer to yours of 14th ult. we have to state, for your guidance and information as well as in justice to Messrs. Hood & Co., that in the end of 1864 we dipped over 10,000 sheep, all more or less scabby, in their preparation. First dipping was done as the sheep left the shearers; the second, in twenty days after; and the third, in ten days after that. We made the wash on the second dipping ten per cent. stronger than recommended; in all other respects we were guided precisely by Messrs. Hood & Co.'s directions. We have only further to state that we have never seen a single case of scab in our flocks since the second dipping, sixteen months ago, and that we consider it has this other important recommendation:—Whereas all other sheep dressings, with which we are acquainted, more or less injure and discolour the wool, Messrs. Hood & Co.'s, in our opinion, improves it in colour, texture, and weight.

J. & A. TAYLOR.

Messrs. HOOD & Co.

Summerhill, November 4th, 1865.

GENTLEMEN.—I feel great pleasure in being able to bear testimony to the efficacy of your preparation as a cure for scab. After giving everything else a fair trial, I had recourse to your stuff, and I am happy to say it answered my most sanguine expectation. I can confidently recommend it, as being not only effectual but cheaper than anything I am acquainted with, besides being so easily prepared for use. I unhesitatingly pronounce it what you have named it, a Specific for Scab if properly used.

Truly yours, THOS. WILSON.

The preceding certificate from Dr. Wilson was presented to us after a trial of fully fifteen months; the sheep operated on were Leicester, the most difficult to cure. From these circumstances and from the Doctor's well established position as a scientific man, we receive this result of his unbiassed judgment as an opinion which should command great weight.

Extract from a letter received from L. RYAN, Esq., Bunyip, Wimmera.

"I dipped some flocks in tobacco and sulphur, and some in your preparation. The only difference observable now is, that the wool of those dipped in yours is clean and fit for market, whereas with those dipped in tobacco it is much stained. The scab was cured in each case, both by the tobacco and by the use of yours. Your preparation is only about one-third the price of tobacco, and much easier of application. I am so much impressed with the value of your composition that I shall in future use it every year, even on clean flocks, to promote the growth of the wool, and to destroy tick, &c."

Messrs. HOOD & Co., Melbourne.

Morton's Hotel, March 9, 1865.

DEAR SIRS.—I may inform you that I have used your Sheep-dipping Composition very largely, and with the greatest success. My sheep were very badly infected with scab; some of them I dipped but twice, while others needed three dippings to effect a cure; but as I went on the principle of making a thorough cure, an extra dipping was of no object to me. I am certainly of opinion that your Composition is the most reliable as well as the cheapest remedy for scab, and I can confidently recommend it to the notice of all those whose flocks are troubled with that disease, as a simple, cheap, safe, and certain cure, if the directions are followed to the letter. It is not more than one-fourth the cost of tobacco. I remain, dear sir, faithfully yours, Lake Meran, Lower Loddon.

IN placing the present work before the public, the compiler begs to return thanks for the liberal manner in which he has been supported in his undertaking, which has added increased zeal to his earnest wish to give that satisfaction which so much patronage properly demanded. He can confidently assure his patrons that he has spared neither pains nor expense in rendering the work complete ; but, at the same time, must crave a little consideration from them should any error have occurred, as the compilation of a work of its extent can hardly be expected to arrive at perfection ; although he hopes the present will be equally successful in affording that satisfaction which has attended his previous works, viz., "The Sandhurst, Castlemaine, and Echuca Directory for 1865-66," and "The Kyneton, Malmsbury, and Taradale Directory for 1866."

The compiler, feeling assured that a Squatters' Directory would be of infinite use and value to the Banks, Insurance Companies, and the commercial community generally, has added one, although it was not named in the Prospectus ; he has also included an Almanac, and such local information with respect to the townships as he considered of the most importance.

The Advertising Sheets (mounted on calico) and the Page Advertisements have been got up with very great care, and each advertisement in the former appears under the heading of its own township.

From the immense circulation attending the work, there is no doubt that much ultimate benefit must be derived by the advertisers, as it will be conveyed through the whole of the Western District and among the squatters of Victoria ; also, the south-eastern border of South Australia, a circuitous distance of 850 miles, and including nearly 40 townships.

The proprietor wishes to observe, that the sale of books and number of advertisements far exceed those of any other work of the same kind that has ever been published in Victoria.

In conclusion, the compiler begs again to return thanks, also to those gentlemen who have kindly given him information, and trusts that the work may give such satisfaction as to ensure him a continuance of future favours in his succeeding editions.

GEORGE STEVENS,

Compiler, Publisher, and Proprietor.

Melbourne, 22nd April, 1866.

EXPLANATION OF THE COLUMN HEADED "MOON."—This column shows the time of the moon's rising or setting. When the time of rising is given, the moon will not set till after daylight; and when the time of setting is shown, the moon will have risen before the end of the previous daylight.

☉ HORTICULTURAL.—General Notes.—But little reliance can be placed upon crops from seed sown during this month. The systematic husbandman will find plenty to do in the seasonable operations of the month, such as budding, layering, &c., in moist weather; trenching and forking vacant patches, and hoeing among growing crops; this latter operation is essential in strong soils, as it impedes the evaporation, and prevents the ground cracking, rendering it fit for cropping on the first favourable rain. Growing crops demand most attention. Cucumbers, melons, marrows, and, indeed, all vegetables, should have the soil lightly forked around them previous to watering. In addition to general attention to cleanliness in the garden, a few light sowings of vegetables named in the calendar may be made.

This is always regarded as the driest month in the year, and the notes on last month will apply, with equal force, to this. ● Ripening seeds should be attended to, and discretion used in sowing only fine kinds. If the expanded blooms be cut from Roses, tidiness, and a good autumn show is secured. Clayey soils trenched during summer are incalculably improved; and the additional expense and labour of breaking up such soils in dry weather is more than repaid in their being ready for planting early—at a time when most soils have yet to be trenched. The Budding of Fruit Trees should be proceeded with, and if the weather be very dry, or the bark not free, a few buckets of water applied to the roots of the stocks a few days previous to budding will generally render the operation easy and successful. ● A few of the choicest specimens of melons, as also cucumbers should be allowed to thoroughly ripen for seed, and care should be taken that such specimens are grown at a distance from other kinds likely to hybridize, and thus jeopardise the purity of the variety.

Sarby Days—2nd—10th—17th—24th—30th.

Continue to work land just cleared of crops, well manuring where necessary. The propagation of Roses and many kinds of ornamental shrubs, by cuttings, should this month receive attention. For this purpose, prepare a piece of the best land in the garden, lying dry and well drained; deeply dig, but add no manure. Cuttings should be formed from the matured wood of the season's growth, and may be prepared as follows—Cut clean across close below an eye—not into it—remove the buds from that portion going beneath the ground, leaving but one or two buds with leaves above the soil. The developed leaves should not be removed, as they perform an important function in the economy of the plant, and promote the formation of roots. The ground is usually in a warm, moist state, and watering will rarely be needed this month.

Saxby Days—6th—13th—19th—26th.

This month in Victoria frequently resembles October in the rapidity of growth which sets in after the autumnal rains. Vines and many fruit trees frequently start into a vigorous second growth, and produce blooms. The wood, however, so formed seldom ripens, and the plant is usually seriously injured by this premature starting into fruitless growth of wood, intended in the economy of the plant to bear blossoms and fruit in the succeeding spring. The fruit grower may not expect to gather more than one crop annually, except at the cost of the health of the plant. If a judicious selection of roses has been made there should be a fine display of bloom during the month; the Hybrid Perpetuals, of course, as usual, monopolising a large share in the gaiety of the garden.

☉ This month will absorb all the attention of the gardener; for, in addition to the seasonable operations, all alteration in the plans of the garden and the formation of new walks and permanent beds, should be as nearly as possible completed. The formation of new asparagus beds, and the deep digging and trenching of land cannot safely be left beyond this month; as to trench land in wet weather is a slow process and one, withal, conferring but little benefit on the soil. Keep beds of cuttings, and the garden generally free from weeds—selecting dry weather for such work. This is the best month to plant Anemone and Ranunculus Bulbs; and if the beds have a good dressing of well decomposed cow dung, a good display of bloom may be expected. Hyacinth, crocus, snowdrop, and, indeed, most spring flowering bulbs, should be planted out on prepared beds.

June is the usual month for pruning vines, and for planting cuttings; but it not unfrequently happens that the wood is in better order in July. All knife pruning should be performed when plants are dormant. This is the most favourable period for transplanting fruit trees; and if good plants are desired, it is better to order from a respectable seedsman, or to visit the nursery at once and select plants, than to defer the selection a month or two, with the idea of getting a "cheap lot" at auction. It is generally the case that these "bargains" are dying from exposure, or have received such constitution injury as will secure them but a sickly existence and a fruitless end. It will be found, too, that where healthy plants are offered at auction the buyer usually obtains many varieties not desired, and has no security as to the genuineness of the kinds selected.

Pruning should not be deferred later than this month on all trees in a fit state for the knife. It is impossible to lay down precise rules as to the peculiar system serviceable in each plant, for it will be found few trees are of the same habit or style of growth. Again, some persons prefer a purely formal style rather than that suited for the permanent orchard; and in that case adapt their treatment to the desired end. There can be no doubt, however, that where the tree is desired as a permanent standard the less knife work—beyond the removal of such shoots as would interfere with the symmetry and balance of the tree—the better. It is well for an amateur to watch a practised hand before experimenting on his own trees. The system of training fruit trees egg-cup or wine-glass shape may be carried out successfully for a few years in a small garden, but on a large scale is not to be commended, as the heads in a few years become so thick as to entirely exclude the sun and air.

Saxby Days—1st—7th—14th—21st—28th.

During this month and early in September grafting fruit trees should be got on with. The modes described are not difficult even for the amateur: but unless he has at command suitable plants as stocks he had better purchase the grafted plants from a nurseryman. He should especially avoid grafting upon suckers or shoots springing up round the stems of the tree. To procure sound stocks, the seeds of the various fruits should be sown in March and April, and the following year the seedlings should be planted in rows where they may remain until the grafting period or until of a sufficient size. The scion, or graft, required should be cut a week or two previous to using, and pushed into the soil; as it is found that the union takes place with greater certainty when the stock is in a more vigorous state of growth than the scion. Grafting is frequently practised with vines, and where it is desired to supersede a worthless variety, it is an admirable method of directing the established power of the plant to useful account.

Saxby Days—3rd—10th—17th—24th.

For the heavy basaltic soils, this is usually the busiest month of the year, as by this time, in ordinary seasons, the soil works freely, and is in nice condition for receiving seed. Full sowings of peas, beans, French beans, scarlet runners, and others indicated in calendar may be made. The beds and hills for cucumbers, melons, marrows, and indeed the whole of this useful family, should be prepared of well-rotted dung and fine turfy soil cut from a good loam pasture. No well-kept garden should be without its turf heaps in various stages of decomposition; as, for many kinds of plants, a pure sweet vegetable mould is indispensible to their healthy growth. Ranunculi, anemones, tulips, hyacinths, &c., will be blooming during September; and it is a good plan to mark the best varieties with their particular colour and character. Especially is this requisite with ranunculi, as so many weedy kinds are sold mixed with the better varieties. Where it is desired to retard the bloom-season of roses, the upper wood with young shoots may be pruned more closely.

Saxby Days—1st—7th—15th—22nd—28th.

The garden this month presents to the eye its most charming aspect. The brilliancy of the young foliage of fruit trees, intermingled with blooms, the advancing crops of vegetables contrasting with the as yet moist, dark coloured soil; the air laden with the perfume of fruit and blossoms of strawberries—all make labour light and pleasing. The close of this month is usually selected in the Melbourne district, for the first Horticultural Exhibition of the season; and the rose is then the chief attraction. There is usually a section for amateurs, and, if the grower desires, he may exhibit in that or any section. There are no societies more deserving of public support than those designed for the encouragement of Horticulture; and especially is this the case in new countries, where by such means the community is kept informed of new discoveries, and such plants as are likely to prove useful, are introduced for the public advantage. The raiser of new varieties of fruits will find this the most critical month for the performance of artificial fertilisation.

BUDDING.—In this month many varieties of roses and shrubs may be budded with success, but fruit trees will not be ready until February or March. Care should be taken in the season (March, April, and May) to plant out a few cuttings of the common free-growing kinds of roses to serve as stocks, to bud choice varieties upon. If this has been done, they will probably be in a good condition now to receive the buds. The operation, as hereafter described, is so simple that children easily acquire dexterity, and every amateur (lady or gentleman) should be able to increase their choice varieties of roses at pleasure, without running to the nurseryman for additional plants of any admired variety. The pleasures of Floriculture will not thus be marred by any consideration of their costliness, and the pursuit comes to have the additional interest of an experimental science. Strawberries and cherries will be in full season during November.

Saxby Days—1st—8th—16th—22nd—28th.

Hot winds frequently affect growing crops prejudicially this month. Care should be taken that the vines of melons, marrows, cucumbers, &c., are not injured by being blown about. Peg down at intervals. Attend to vines, and re-tie where necessary, great injury generally resulting from neglect in keeping the young tender-shoots tied to the stakes. Should any stakes appear loose, have them driven firmly in without delay, or the loss of the vine may be occasioned by the wind blowing both down together. Writers on the vine sometimes advise the removal of foliage from around the young fruit, but such a practice, unless for very special requirements, is to be condemned; as it too frequently happens that the hot winds scorch the unripe fruit, and spoil the crop, even where no foliage has been removed. Stopping back the shoots is also not advisable; but young lateral, or side growth, may be rubbed off with advantage. The growing of crops of vegetables, however light, among the vines, is a very bad plan, and one not defensible on the score of economy.

DELIVERIES IN MELBOURNE AND SUBURBS.

There are four Deliveries daily by Letter Carriers in Melbourne within the following boundaries:—On the north, by the south side of Victoria-street; on the east, by Spring-street (including the Parliament Houses); on the south by the River Yarra; on the west by Spencer and Adderley-streets. The Letter Carriers leave the General Post-office at 8 a.m., 11 a.m., 2 p.m., and 5 p.m.

The Delivery of Letters, &c., by Letter Carriers in Hotham, Fitzroy, and Collingwood, takes place three times daily, commencing at 8 a.m., 1 p.m., and 4 p.m., and in Carlton and East Melbourne, at 8 a.m., 12 noon, and 4 p.m.

Letters intended for any of the above Deliveries are required to be posted at the General Post-office not less than fifteen minutes before the time stated.

Registered Letters and Newspapers are required to be posted one hour prior to the time appointed for closing Mails, and before 4 p.m. daily.

Mails are dispatched on an average twice a week to the neighbouring colonies, and at the same postal rates as letters to England.

Letters for the country districts, to be in time for the day mail, should be posted before a quarter to 11 a.m.; and for the evening mail, before half-past 5 p.m. daily. The mail for Beechworth and townships on the route closes at Melbourne at half-past 11 every morning.

It is suggested that all letters intended for transmission by the Royal Mail contract steamers should be secured with gum or wafers, the use of sealing-wax having been found to cause delay in separating letters, and in some instances to lead to addresses on envelopes being rendered illegible.

Press Messages at a reduced rate of 1s. not exceeding 12 words; and 1d. for each additional word.

The charge between intermediate Stations can be ascertained at any of the above offices.

Regulations and Conditions under which Telegraphic messages are authorized to be Transmitted in Victoria.

1. To lessen as much as possible any liability to error in the transmission of Messages from defective manuscript, it is desirable that the use of Figures should be avoided, and that Words at length be substituted; and the public, in using the Electric Telegraph, are requested to be particular in giving a full and correct Address to every Message, so that the least possible delay in delivery may occur.

2. Messages will be transmitted in the order of their reception, and no precedence will be allowed except for special despatches on the service of the Government, the arrest of criminals, and in cases of pressing emergency, sickness, or death.

3. All Messages will be held strictly confidential.

4. PAYMENT OF CHARGES IN ADVANCE will be required, except for Replies to Interrogatory Messages on which the sender may have written the words "Reply will be paid for;" but special arrangements may be made for the receipt of Messages payable by the receiver, either by depositing security at the receiving office or by furnishing written authority covering the cost of transmission.

5. No charge will be made for the date, address, or signature to any Message, and it is particularly requested that the two latter may be as clear and explicit as possible.

6. Messages must be WRITTEN WITH INK, in a clear and legible manner, and bear a proper date, address, and genuine signature in the usual handwriting of the sender.

7. Messages will be delivered free of charge within one mile of the office; over that distance cab or omnibus fare will be charged, when incurred; and for Messages to be delivered on shipboard, an extra charge to cover the disbursement for boat expenses will be made.

8. Messages may be transmitted in CYPHER in the English language, on payment of an additional charge of fifty per cent., but Cypher Words must not average more than two syllables.

9. On special occasions, when the communication may be kept open during the night, an additional charge equal to one-third of the ordinary rate will be required upon all Messages received for transmission later than 8 p.m.

10. Every reasonable exertion will be used, and precaution adopted, to secure the greatest promptness, accuracy, and despatch in conducting the business of the Telegraph, but no responsibility will be assumed for any errors, omissions, or delays in the transmission or non-transmission, delivery, or non-delivery of any Message, from whatever cause the same arise. In order, however, to afford the fullest security for the correctness of a transmitted Message, the sender may obtain a copy of the Message as repeated back from the Receiving Office, if within the bounds of this colony, upon payment of one-half the original charge upon such Message; but in no case will any pecuniary responsibility be recognised beyond the extent of Five Pounds.

11. In the event of serious delay occurring to prevent the transmission of a Message within a reasonable time, or sufficient to destroy the value of the despatch, notice will be conveyed to the sender, should his address be known, and the Message, together with the amount paid thereon, be returned, if desired.

12. In cases where immediate replies are required, the messenger will be instructed to wait FIVE MINUTES after the delivery, provided the Message may contain the words "Reply by Telegraph immediately."

13. PRINTED FORMS upon which Messages should be written may be obtained upon application at the office; but all Messages, whether written upon the prescribed forms, or upon plain paper, will be considered as tendered for transmission, and transmitted to their destination under the several conditions and stipulations above detailed.

14. The Offices will be kept open for the transmission of Messages by the public generally between the hours of 8.30 a.m. and 8 p.m. (Sundays excepted).

DIRECTIONS TO PEOPLE LOST IN THE BUSH.

1. As soon as you discover yourself astray, sit down and quietly consider what course you should take, and do not be flurried. When you have made up your mind, never change your course on any sudden impulse, but only after sitting down and considering carefully your position.
2. When you find yourself utterly lost, stop at once, and wait for your friends to find you. If you cannot do that.
3. Never leave a road once you have come upon it; it must lead somewhere.
4. If you come upon a fence, stick to it; it must lead to a gate and a road.

TO DESTROY ANTS.—Drop some quicklime on the mouth of their nest, and wash it in with boiling water; or dissolve some camphor in spirits of wine, then mix with water, and pour into their haunts; or tobacco water, which has been found effectual. They are averse to strong scents. Camphor will prevent them from infesting a cupboard, or a sponge saturated with creosote. To prevent their climbing up trees, place a ring of tar about the trunk, or a circle of rag moistened occasionally with creosote.

TO DESTROY BLIGHT ON ROSES.—Procure a handful of the chips of quassia, over which pour a gallon of boiling water. When cold, add a pint of the decoction thus formed to a gallon of rain-water, and syringe the plant infested with the aphid. This is considered the best remedy known, and is perfectly harmless to the plant. A little perseverance will soon clean off the blight.

BOLOGNA SAUSAGES.—Take equal quantities of bacon, fat and lean, beef, veal, pork, and beef suet; chop them small, season with pepper, salt, &c., sweet herbs, and sage rubbed fine. Have ready a well-washed intestine, fill, and prick it; boil gently for an hour, and lay it on straw to dry. They may be smoked the same as hams.

To EXTINGUISH A FIRE in a chimney, besides any water that may be at hand, throw on it salt, or a handful of flour of sulphur as soon as you can obtain it; keep all the doors and windows tightly shut, and hold before the fire-place a blanket or some woollen article, to exclude the air.

SILK CULTURE.

MARTELLI, in his useful little hand-book on the Silk Worm, recommends the foliage of Manilla, Moretto, and White Mulberries for feeding the worms upon. After the eggs are hatched and before it spins the cocoon, the life of the worm is divided into four distinct stages or changes, at each of which periods great attention is necessary, as they are succeeded by unusual voracity on the part of the worm. The approach of the final stage may be judged of by the worm changing in color, from a white to a yellowish tint, and its tendency to explore the frame. It should then be supplied with papers folded into hollow cones, or twigs of fern or small sticks should be placed round the edge, and the room partially darkened. It will have finished spinning the cocoon in about eight days.

It is the duty of every one desirous of voting, and whose name does not appear upon any rate-payer's roll, to call upon the Registrar of the district in which he resides, and request to be enrolled as an elector. It is the duty of the Registrar in accordance with the Act to issue to such applicant an Elector's Right at a cost of one shilling.

Such are the provisions of the Electoral Act which immediately concern the person desirous of qualifying himself to vote at any election. The Act itself is a very bulky document, containing full instructions to registrars and to those conducting elections.

THE LAND ACT OF 1865.

The country has had sufficient experience of the working of this new measure to warrant us in pronouncing it the best system as yet devised for putting the lands of the colony within the reach of the bona fide cultivator. A great deal of bustle and confusion naturally occurred on the opening up of the first areas, but as time elapses and the Land Department gains experience, the Act will work more smoothly.

The following clauses and extracts from the Act will be useful to the selector.

The Land Act provides for the survey from time to time of large areas in allotments of from 40 to 640 acres, and also for the proclamation of such areas for selection, purchase, or leasing. On the proclamation of such areas there shall be stated the name of the land officer to whom, and the date upon which, application may be made for selection. Every application must be made personally. The following are the two clauses which more immediately concern the selector :—

Clause 12. All applications shall be made by the applicants in person. When on any day within the period of one hour calculated from the time of the opening or re-opening of the land office two or more persons shall attend at the land office to make application for the purchase or selection or for a lease of land under this part of this Act the priority of the order of applications shall be determined by lot to be conducted in such manner as the Board of Land and Works may direct, and upon such determination such application shall be received and entered in the order so ascertained as aforesaid. When any application is refused or disallowed by the Board, or withdrawn, the rent in advance paid, as hereinafter provided (see clause 13) by the applicant, shall notwithstanding anything contained in any Act now or hereafter to be in force relating to the collection and payment of the public moneys be forthwith returned without interest by the land officer or his substitute to the unsuccessful applicant. Provided that every application in manner aforesaid and accompanied by payment of the rent in advance as hereinafter mentioned shall be and be deemed to be accepted by the board unless such application shall within thirty clear days from the time the same has been entered as aforesaid be refused or disallowed by a notice under the hand of the President of the Board which shall be published in the Government Gazette within the period last aforesaid, and shall specify the grounds of such refusal or disallowance.

Clause 13. The Board of Land and Works may grant a lease under the seal of the board of an allotment in an agricultural area for a term of seven years at a rent of two shillings per annum for each and every acre or fractional part of an acre of the said allotment to any person who shall have applied in manner aforesaid for such lease, and who shall have paid to the land officer or his substitute before or at the time of making application, a half-year's rent in advance for such allotment. The Board of Land and Works may also in such manner and subject to such terms, conditions, and regulations as the Governor in Council may from time to time direct, grant leases of subdivisions of an allotment to two or more persons, one of whom shall have made application and paid a half-year's rent in advance for the allotment in manner aforesaid, and every such lease and every lessee of any such subdivision respectively shall contain and be subject to all the covenants, conditions, and provisions of this Act with respect to leases and lessees of allotments.

THE DIVIDING FENCES' ACT.

FENCES STATUTE, 1865.

This Act, which was passed on May 9th, 1865, is one which should be generally understood in the country districts. It will be found of special importance in those districts wherein the agricultural areas have recently been taken up for settlement.

“From and after the coming into operation of this Act (June 1st, 1865) the owner of lands adjoining or abutting upon any other lands, and having no sufficient dividing fence, may require, by writing under his hand, the owner or person legally possessed of and holding any adjoining lands (excepting such lands as shall be held of the Crown by temporary occupation only), or his agent, to assist in equal proportions to make or repair any or all the dividing fences between such lands respectively; and in case the owner of such adjoining lands or person legally possessed of and holding the same or his agent shall refuse or neglect to assist, or fail to use due diligence in the making or repairing such dividing fences for the space of six months after receiving such requisition, or shall not give to the owner of such adjoining land, from whom he shall have received such requisition, a sufficient and reasonable excuse for not having assisted in carrying such fencing into effect, the owner of such adjoining lands who shall have given such requisition, and who shall have completed his share of such dividing fence may engage and contract with any person to complete and execute or repair such dividing fence; and such owner and his servants or the person contracting to execute, complete, or repair such fencing, and his ser-wants respectively may cut upon the farm or lands of the person so neglecting or refusing as aforesaid, all such indigenous timber or other indigenous trees (excepting such as shall have been planted or preserved for ornament) and materials as shall be necessary for executing and completing or repairing such fencing as aforesaid; and such owner and contractor and their servants respectively shall not be answerable or chargeable for any act of trespass which they respectively may have committed on such adjoining lands for the purpose of cutting and carrying away any such indigenous timber as aforesaid; and in case a sufficient quantity of the materials necessary for the executing and completing or repairing of such fencing cannot be obtained upon such adjoining lands, the person authorised to make and repair such dividing fences or the person with whom he shall so contract may procure and purchase the materials necessary for the executing and completing or repairing of such fencing; and all sums of money which shall or may be so expended or laid out under the provisions of this section shall be recoverable as money paid to the use of the person so neglecting or refusing as aforesaid.

“If any person or persons shall after the coming into operation of this Act enclose his lands before the lands immediately adjoining shall have been duly granted by the Crown, or otherwise held as private property, the owner of land so enclosed shall be authorised to claim and recover from the person who shall afterwards become the proprietor of such adjoining lands one-half of the actual value of the wall, hedge, or fence forming the dividing line or fence between the said adjoining lands; and such value shall be ascertained immediately or as soon as may be after such adjoining land shall have been granted by the Crown, or otherwise held as private property as aforesaid by the arbitration of two persons to be chosen by the parties; and the amount which shall be awarded under such arbitration as one-half of the value of such dividing fence shall be recoverable by due course of law, if not paid within twelve months after the date of the award. Provided that in case such two persons so chosen as aforesaid shall not agree in the amount to be paid for one-half of the value of such dividing fence within the space of one month next after such reference shall be made to them, then the question shall be referred to the determination of such indifferent person as the said arbitrators by writing under their hands, shall nominate and appoint as umpire; and the decision of such umpire shall be conclusive. Provided also that in case either of the parties in difference shall neglect or refuse for the space of one month after notice in writing given by the other party for that purpose to appoint an arbitrator as aforesaid, the arbitrator to be chosen by the party giving such notice may make an award ex parte, which shall be binding and conclusive in like manner as if the party so neglecting or refusing had chosen an arbitrator who had actually joined and made an award therein.

“In all cases where there shall be natural boundaries between adjoining lands, or where any dispute or difference shall arise between the respective owners or persons legally possessed of such adjoining lands as to the necessity or sufficiency of any dividing fence as aforesaid, then and in every such case the question shall be referred to arbitration in like manner and shall be subject to the like award and decision as hereinbefore provided with respect to the value of dividing lines or fences as aforesaid.

“If the owner or occupier of any land shall clear the same of inflammable materials for the space of fifteen feet from any fence dividing such land from the land of any other owner or occupier, and such other owner or occupier shall neglect or omit so to clear his land, and any damage from fire shall happen to such dividing fence through such neglect or omission, the owner or occupier so neglecting or omitting to clear, shall at his own costs and charges cause such fence to be repaired and re-erected within the space of one month after the same shall have been so damaged; and in case he shall refuse or omit to repair or re-erect the same fence within such space of one month, it shall be lawful for the owner or occupier of the land contiguous to the said fence who shall have cleared the same of inflammable material as aforesaid to repair or re-erect such dividing fence; and all sums of money which shall or may be so expended or laid out under the provisions of this section shall be deemed and be taken to be money paid to the use of the owner or occupier in default. Nothing herein shall be deemed to take away or interfere with the right of any person to sue for and recover compensation for or in respect of any damage or injury to any fence occasioned by the reckless or negligent use of fire.”

THE NEW POSTAL ACT.

PART IV.—POST OFFICE DEPOSIT FOR SAVINGS.

The Postmaster-General may authorise and direct any postmaster or other officer of the post office as he shall think fit, to receive deposits for remittance to the General Post Office, and to repay the same under such regulations as the Governor in Council may prescribe in that respect.

Deposits may be received under this Part of this Act from any minor, or from a parent or other relative of a minor in the name and on behalf of such minor; and such deposits shall be repaid on the application in writing of such parent or other relative or of the minor himself, in case he shall have made the deposit and the receipt of any such minor attested by one witness shall be a sufficient discharge, notwithstanding the infancy of such minor.

Deposits made by a married woman without notice to the Postmaster-General of her marriage may be repaid to her unless the husband of such woman in any case where no order has been made by a court, judge, magistrate, or justices protecting the earnings and property of the wife, shall give to the Postmaster-General notice in writing of such marriage and shall require payment to be made to him, in which case the Postmaster-General may in his discretion pay the same or any portion thereof together with any interest due in respect of the same to such husband or to such woman as to him shall seem proper.

When the trustees of any bank commonly known as a Penny Savings Bank shall have determined to close such bank for the receipt of deposits, and shall have given public notice of such intention by advertisement in a newspaper circulating in the district in which such bank is situated, such trustees may, if they think fit, transmit under the hand of a majority of their number to the Postmaster-General a certified list of such depositors as shall not have applied to them to receive their deposits and of the amounts due to them respectively, and the Postmaster-General may thereupon receive as a deposit under this Part of this Act the moneys remaining in the hands of the trustees, if the same shall be sufficient to discharge the whole of the liabilities of such trustees to the depositors set forth in the said list. The certificate of the Postmaster-General shall be a sufficient discharge to the said trustees in respect of all such moneys so paid over and all such moneys shall be received and held subject to the rights and claims of the depositors named in such list who shall be thenceforth be considered to be depositors under the provisions of this Part of this Act, and shall be entitled, subject to the provisions, and in form prescribed under the authority of this Part on presenting their deposit books to any postmaster or other officer of the post office authorised as aforesaid, to claim payment of the sums shewn by the said list to be due to them respectively, with the interest due to them thereon.

Every deposit received by any postmaster or other officer appointed for that purpose shall be entered by him at the time in a depositors' book, and the entry shall be attested by him and by the dated stamp of his office; and the amount of such deposit shall upon the day of such receipt be reported by such postmaster or officer to the Postmaster-General, and the acknowledgment of the Postmaster-General signed by the officer whom he shall appoint for the purpose shall be forthwith transmitted to the depositor, and the said acknowledgment shall be conclusive evidence of his claim to the repayment thereof with the interest thereon upon demand made by him on the Postmaster-General. In order to allow a reasonable time for the receipt of the said acknowledgment, the entry by such postmaster or other officer in the depositors' book shall also be conclusive evidence of title for ten days from the lodgment of the deposit, and if the said acknowledgment shall not have been received by the depositor through the post within ten days, and he shall before or immediately upon the expiry thereof demand the said acknowledgment from the Postmaster-General, then the entry in such book shall be conclusive evidence of title during another term of ten days and toties quoties. Provided that such deposits shall not be of less amount than sixpence, nor of any sum not a multiple thereof.

On demand of the depositor or person legally authorised to claim on account of a depositor, made in such form as shall be prescribed in that behalf, for repayment of any deposit or any part thereof, the authority of the Postmaster-General for such repayment shall be transmitted to the depositor forthwith, and the depositor shall be absolutely entitled to repayment of any sum or sums that may be due to him within ten days at farthest, after his demand shall be made at any post office where deposits were received and paid.

Postmasters and other officers of the post office engaged in the receipt or payment of deposits shall not disclose the name of any depositor nor the amount deposited or withdrawn, except to the Postmaster-General or to such officers or persons as may be appointed to assist in carrying this Part of this Act into operation.

All moneys so deposited with the Postmaster-General shall forthwith be paid over to the Treasurer of Victoria, and shall be placed to the credit of the trust fund and shall be a charge upon the consolidated revenue, and all sums withdrawn by depositors, or by persons legally authorised to claim on account of depositors may and shall be repaid to them out of the said trust fund through the office of the Postmaster-General.

The interest payable to the persons making such deposits shall be at a rate not exceeding four pounds per centum per annum, but such interest shall not be calculated on any account less than ten shillings or some multiple thereof; and shall not commence until the first day of the month next following the day of deposit, and shall cease on the first day of the month in which such deposit is withdrawn.

Interest on deposits shall be calculated to the thirty-first day of December in every year, and shall be added to and form part of the principal money.

THE THISTLES PREVENTION STATUTE.

ASSENTED TO MAY 9, 1865.

Provides for the Eradication of Thistles by the owners and occupiers of land, inflicting penalties for non-compliance with its provisions.

Clause IV. subjects the occupier of land whereon thistles are growing to the penalty of twenty pounds if, after notice, he neglects their removal. Clause V. provides that where the land is unoccupied a notice may be conspicuously affixed, and be deemed sufficient in law. Clause VI., under authority of the justices of the peace, enables the party giving such notice (in the event of the thistles not being removed by the owner or occupier within seven days), to enter on the land and destroy them, and to recover the cost of doing the same from the owner or occupier so neglecting. Clause VII. permits a man, under authority from a magistrate, to enter upon another's land and search for thistles without being deemed a trespasser, and without being liable for damages other than such as may be found wilful and unnecessary. Clause VIII.—Under this clause a magistrate may order the destruction of thistles on a complaint being lodged. Clause IX. provides that if owner of land unknown or absent from Victoria, such land may be sold to defray expenses upon order of the Supreme Court, after eighteen months' notice in Government Gazette. Clause X. gives power of appeal. Clauses XI. and XII. refer to thistles growing upon Crown lands, which, if within any proclaimed shire or borough, may be cleared by the council of such shire or borough, at the expense of the Government.

Every such registration shall be deemed to be in force from the day upon which the same shall be so made until the thirty-first day of December then next ensuing and no longer, and when a registration shall be made after the first day of July in any year one half only of the fee mentioned in the Second Schedule shall be payable in respect of such registration. The fine for non-registration is five shillings, and for a second offence ten shillings or one pound. It is further necessary that every registered dog shall have on a collar with the name of the owner and place of registration, otherwise the dog will be destroyed.

THE HAWKER'S STATUTE, 1865.

Clause IV. provides that—"From and after the coming into operation of this Act, it shall not be lawful for any person not being already licensed under some Act heretofore in force, or being so licensed from and after the expiration of such license to carry on the business of a hawker or pedlar in any place whatsoever within Victoria without having previously obtained a license hereinafter mentioned. And if any person shall, without having first obtained such license as aforesaid, carry on such business within any part of Victoria, he shall forfeit and pay on conviction for every such offence such sum, not exceeding twenty pounds, as to the convicting justices shall seem meet, and every person carrying on such business as aforesaid shall be deemed and taken to be unlicensed, unless he shall prove to the contrary by the production of his license or otherwise."

Any person desirous of obtaining a license must produce a certificate of good character from two respectable ratepayers, to the justices of petty sessions; and enter into a recognizance, with two sureties in the sum of twenty pounds each; and, in addition, pay the required fees.

Clause XIII.—"Every person to whom any such license as aforesaid shall be granted, and who shall carry on the business of a hawker or pedlar under the authority of such license, shall cause to be written, painted, or printed, in large, legible Roman letters, upon some conspicuous part of every pack, bag, box, trunk, case, cart, dray, waggon, boat, or other vehicle or conveyance in or with which he shall so carry on such business, the words 'Licensed Hawker,' together with his name at full length and the number of his license. And every such person making default therein shall forfeit and pay on conviction for every such offence such sum, not exceeding ten pounds, as to the convicting justices shall seem meet."

THE STATUTE OF WRONGS.

ASSENTED TO MAY 9, 1865.

This Act repeals all previous acts, and provides, first :—

That no action is maintainable against a person for faithfully reporting.

That in any action evidence of an apology having been tendered is admissible in mitigation of damages.

That in an action for newspaper libel, a defendant may plead that it was inserted without malice, and may pay money into court as amends.

That publishing, or threatening to publish a libel, or proposing to abstain from publishing anything, with intent to extort money, shall be punishable by imprisonment and hard labour.

Whosoever the death of a person shall be caused by a wrongful act, neglect, or default, and the act, neglect, or default, is such as would (if death had not ensued) have entitled the party injured to maintain an action and recover damages in respect thereof, then, and in every such case, the person who would have been liable if death had not ensued shall be liable to an action for damages, notwithstanding the death of the person injured, and although the death shall have been caused under such circumstances as amount in law to felony.

Every such action shall be for the benefit of the wife, husband, parent, and child of the person whose death shall have been so caused, and shall be brought by and in the name of the executor or administrator of the person deceased; and in every such action the jury may give such damages as they may think proportioned to the injury resulting from such death to the parties respectively for whom and for whose benefit such action shall be brought, and the amount so recovered, after deducting the costs not recovered from the defendant, shall be divided amongst the before-mentioned parties in such shares as the jury by their verdict shall find and direct.

Not more than one action shall lie for and in respect of the same subject matter of complaint; and every such action shall be commenced within twelve months after the death of such deceased person.

In every such action, the plaintiff on the record shall be required, together with the declaration, to deliver to the defendant or his attorney a full particular of the person or persons for whom and on whose behalf such action shall be brought, and of the nature of the claim in respect of which damages shall be sought to be recovered.

Be it enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and the Legislative Assembly of Victoria in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

1. This Act shall come into operation on the first day of June, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-five, and shall be called and may be cited as "The Volunteer Statute, 1865."

2. The Act mentioned in the Schedule hereto to the extent to which the same is therein expressed to be repealed shall be, and the same is hereby repealed. Nothing herein shall be deemed to affect or render invalid any regulation, appointment, or promotion lawfully made or any act or thing lawfully done before the coming into operation of this Act under the authority of the Act hereby repealed.

3. The Governor in Council may, on behalf of Her Majesty, accept the offers of service of any corps of volunteers, naval as well as military, upon such terms and conditions as to the said Governor in Council may seem fit and proper, and may discontinue the services of and cause to be di-banded any such corps, and may with or without previous enquiry dispense with the services of any volunteer whether officer or private, and of any person appointed to the paid staff of or serving for pay in the volunteer force and may after enquiry discharge any such volunteer or person for disobedience of orders, neglect of duty, misconduct as a member of or in connection with a corps, or for any other sufficient cause whatsoever, and the Governor in Council shall be the sole judge of the existence and sufficiency of such cause. Provided that the whole number of volunteers whose services shall be so accepted shall not at any time exceed ten thousand.

4. The Governor in Council may from time to time make regulations and orders respecting the enrolment and disbanding of any volunteer corps, the appointment, promotion, and rank of all volunteer officers and the relative rank of such officers and of the officers of any military and naval force, and officers holding any military or naval staff appointment in the service of the local Government of Victoria, the requisites to require a volunteer to be deemed an effective; the constitution, assembling, and proceedings of courts of enquiry; to hear, receive, and examine evidence relating to, and to report on any matter connected with the government or discipline of the volunteer force, or of any corps thereof, or on any charge brought against a member of any such corps, the maintenance of discipline, the power of arrest, the payment and recovery of subscriptions, fines, and penalties; and the general government, discipline, and management of the volunteer force and the several corps thereof; and the persons appointed to the paid staff of or serving for pay in the said force; and may from time to time alter or repeal any such regulations and orders; and may call for such returns as may from time to time seem requisite; and all such regulations shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament within fourteen days after the making thereof if Parliament be then sitting, and if Parliament be not sitting, then within fourteen days after the commencement of the next sitting of Parliament.

5. The commanding and other officers of the rank of commissioned officers in each corps shall be appointed by commissions under the hand and seal of the Governor, and all such officers shall rank with the officers of the regular troops in Her Majesty's service as juniors of their respective ranks.

6. Every volunteer corps may recommend its own non-commissioned and commissioned officers under the rank of captain for appointment by the Governor in Council, by submitting for each vacancy the names of three candidates who shall have been balloted for by the members of their corps at a meeting specially convened for the purpose, and thereupon received the greatest number of votes, and who shall have previously passed a satisfactory examination as to their fitness for promotion before a board appointed by the Governor in Council.

7. Every person who shall be accepted as a member of a corps shall, upon such his acceptance, and before he shall be ranked as an effective member thereof, take and subscribe before some justice the following oath of allegiance:—"I, A. B., do sincerely promise and swear that I will be faithful and bear true allegiance to Her Majesty Queen Victoria as lawful Sovereign of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of this Colony of Victoria, dependent on and belonging to the said United Kingdom, and that I will faithfully serve Her said Majesty in the said colony for the defence of the same against all her enemies and opposers whomsoever. So help me God."

8. The majority of the members of any volunteer corps present at any special meeting of the corps to be convened by the commanding officer for the purpose, may make and rescind and alter rules for the management of the affairs of the corps. Provided that every such rule shall be consistent with the regulations herein mentioned, and that no such rule shall have any force or effect until the same shall have been forwarded by the commanding officer to and approved by the Governor in Council, and notice of such approval shall have appeared in the Government Gazette.

9. The officer commanding any corps may recover by summary proceedings before two or more justices any subscription, fine, or penalty whatever which shall have accrued from or become payable by any member of the corps under any of the rules or regulations aforesaid. Provided that all such proceedings shall be taken within twelve months after such subscription, fine, or penalty has become due: Provided also that for the purposes of this section any officer in actual or temporary command of a corps shall be deemed and be taken to be the officer commanding the corps.

10. It shall be lawful for any volunteer when not on active service to quit his corps on the following conditions:—Giving to his commanding officer fourteen days' notice in writing of his intention to quit the corps; delivering up in good order and condition, fair wear and tear only excepted, all arms, clothing, and accoutrements being public property, or the property of the corps issued to him; paying all money due or becoming due by him under any of the regulations or the rules aforesaid, either before or at the time of or by reason of his quitting the corps: and thereupon he shall be struck out of the muster-roll by the commanding officer.

11. If any volunteer claims to have fulfilled these conditions, and his commanding officer notwithstanding refuses to strike his name off the roll, the volunteer may appeal to the court of petty sessions nearest the head quarters of the corps, who shall hear and determine the appeal, and the decision of the said court shall be final.

12. All money subscribed by or for the use of any corps, and all arms, stores, ammunition, or musical instruments, or other articles whatever belonging to or used by any such corps, not being the property of any particular individual, shall be vested in the commanding officer of such corps for all purposes of any proceedings criminal or civil, at law or in equity, and shall for such purpose be deemed to be his property, and may be so laid in any information, action, or suit; and no such information, action, or suit shall be discontinued by the death, resignation, or removal of a commanding officer, but the same may be proceeded in by the succeeding commanding officer; and upon the disbanding of any corps, the volunteers who, previously to such disbanding, had served in the said corps, shall forthwith deliver up as they shall be required all arms, accoutrements, and clothing furnished to them.

13. It shall not be lawful for any person not being duly enrolled a member of a volunteer corps to wear the uniform of any such corps; and any person so unlawfully wearing the uniform of any such corps; or any person who, after his services have been dispensed with, or after he has quitted, or has been discharged from any corps, shall afterwards wear the uniform of such corps, shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding twenty pounds, to be sued for and recovered in a summary way before any two justices.

14. All volunteer corps in Victoria shall be under the superintendence of a field officer of Her Majesty's regular forces; and every such corps shall be subject to be inspected once at least in every six months by some field officer of Her Majesty's regular forces, or by some captain in Her Majesty's navy, as the case may require according to the nature of the services for which such corps shall have been enrolled.

15. In all cases of actual invasion of Victoria, or hostile or predatory attack thereon, or of imminent danger thereto, all such corps of volunteers shall, whenever they shall be summoned by the Governor in Council, or upon the making of any general signals of alarm by order of the Government, forthwith assemble, and shall be liable to march or embark on board ship or otherwise, according to the terms and conditions of their respective services; and in all such corps of volunteers, and the several members thereof shall, upon and from the time of such assembling as aforesaid, and so long as their services shall be required by the Governor in Council, continue and be subject to all the provisions contained in any Act of Parliament then in force in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the punishment of mutiny and desertion, and to any articles of war made in pursuance thereof, or (in case of engagement to serve in aid of Her Majesty's naval forces) to all the laws and customs for the time being in force for the government of Her Majesty's ships, vessels, and forces by sea, and applicable to any person in or belonging to the Royal Navy, or to any person being in actual service and full pay and being part of the crew of any of Her Majesty's ships or vessels. Provided that at least one-half of the members of any court martial which may be summoned for the trial of any volunteer shall be officers of volunteers.

16. When any such corps shall be assembled or marched on any summons or general signal of alarm, the Governor in Council may order them to be put under the command of such military officer, or such naval officer as he may appoint, or as may then be commanding within Victoria, but they shall be led by their respective officers under such command as aforesaid.

17. All persons enrolled in any corps of volunteers when assembled on any of the occasions above stated shall be entitled to pay (if demanded) during the period of their so remaining assembled as aforesaid, in such manner and after such rates, according to their respective ranks and situations, and to be quartered and billeted in like manner in every respect, and under and subject to the same regulations as Her Majesty's regular forces within Victoria, so far as the same shall by the Governor in Council be deemed applicable to volunteer corps.

18. In the event of any member of any such volunteer corps being killed or wounded in actual service, the Governor in Council shall, within twenty-one days after the commencement of the then next session of Parliament, propose the grant out of the public revenue of such pension or gratuity to such wounded person, or to the widow or family of such person killed as aforesaid as the Governor in Council shall think fit.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING A WILL.

A Will cannot be made in language too simple or concise; must be written with ink, on paper or parchment, and if contained on one sheet, must be signed at the end by the testator, in the presence of two or more witnesses; and if written on more than one sheet, the testator and the witnesses had better sign each sheet.

The witnesses (b) must rigidly comply with every particular required by the Attestation Clause, at the end of which clause they must sign their names (c).

The signature of the testator must be acknowledged by him, in the presence of the witnesses; and in order that this be properly done he must (after having signed the Will) take it in his hand and say, "I acknowledge this to be my last Will and Testament, and request you to witness it." To avoid the evils of intestacy, the following form may suffice as a general guide.

WILL.

This is the last Will and Testament of me, Charles Smith, of Hendon Hall, near Boston, in the County of Lincoln, farmer. After payment of all my just debts, funeral and other expenses, I give, devise, and bequeath unto (c) also to (b)

And as to the residue and remainder (d) of all my real and personal estate, I give, devise, and bequeath the same unto (c) And I hereby appoint (c and c), or the survivor of them, and (c) Executors of this my Will, as witness my hand this day of 18

ATTESTATION.

Signed and acknowledged by the said Charles Smith, the testator, as and for his last Will and Testament, in the presence of us, being present at the same time, who, at his request, in his presence, and in the presence of each other, have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses.

A Codicil to a Will is to be made with the same regulations as the Will itself, and may be written thus:—

This is a Codicil to my last Will and Testament, bearing date the day of 18 , and which I direct be taken as part thereof. I give, devise, and bequeath, &c. As witness my hand this day of Obliterations or alterations of any sort in a Will ought, if possible, to be avoided as dangerous; and when of necessity made, ought to be signed by the testator and witnesses in the margin, or as near to the alterations as possible, and the alterations specially noticed in the Attestation Clause as having been made before the Will was signed.

Marriage after making a Will renders the Will void.

If a person wish to dispose of all his property in one gift, the words "all my real and personal estate" may be used.

It is not indispensable for a witness to know the contents of a Will, which may be so folded as to prevent any other part from the signature and Attestation Clause being read.

It may be useful to remark that personal property left without a Will is divisible as under:—

If the deceased leave children and no widow, the whole property is to be divided equally amongst the children.

If he leave a widow and child or children, the former is entitled to one-third, and the latter to the remaining two-thirds.

If he leave a widow and no child, the former is entitled to half, and the next of kin to the remainder, as under:—

A father, the whole amount.

If no father, a mother, brothers and sisters, or their issue, equal portions.

If none, uncles, aunts, nephews, and nieces, equal portions, &c.

A DAY'S SHOOTING.

From the 20th December to the 1st of August following the sportsman is at liberty to shoot any native game. There is scarcely any part of Victoria but what some if not all of the following may be found within an hour's ride of large centres of population:—Quail, Ducks, and Teal, Swans, Bustards or Wild Turkeys, Bronze Wing, and Scrub Pigeons, Mallee Hens, Bitterns, Rail, Waterhens, and Snipe. The latter three are not in the schedule of birds protected, and may therefore be killed at any time, but the whole of the others may not be killed, nor their eggs taken, from 1st August to 20th December under very heavy penalties. A good steady setter or pointer is necessary for quail; while the shot used should be about that known as No. 8 or 9. But few farmers object to anyone going over their farms, yet it is well if possible, to get permission, as one is liable to be turned off at any moment, and to be summoned for trespass unless he comply.

A stranger visiting any district, and desiring information as to the locality for game, will do well to call upon any resident gunsmith, whose business it is to make himself acquainted with such likely localities, and who will usually be only too glad to communicate them to his customers.

SAXBY'S WEATHER SYSTEM.

Under each month in the Calendar will be found enumerated the days upon which, according to the theory of Saxby, we may expect a marked disturbance of the weather. They are given prominence to from the fact that a very large number of people believe most implicitly in the truth of his predictions, and also, in order that the public may have an opportunity of testing their accuracy.

TREATMENT OF SNAKE BITES.

We feel it a duty to give prominence to the following plain and simple directions for the treatment of snake-bites. The great point is, of course, immediate excision, and a copious flow of blood from the wound. Stimulants in such cases may be valuable. But if excision has been neglected, then hope centres in giving large doses of stimulative medicines—brandy, rum, or other spirits, by all means, if nothing else is to be had,—but the remedy is Liquor Ammonia.

The following directions for using Liquor Ammonia in the treatment of snake-bites have been published by the Government of Ceylon, but revised, corrected, and additions made by Dr. G. H. Pringle, of Parramatta:—

TREATMENT OF SNAKE-BITES.

1.—Thirty or forty drops of Liquor Ammonia should at once be given, mixed with a wine-glass-full of water and oil, and this should be repeated at intervals of ten or fifteen minutes, till all symptoms of the poison disappear, and till consciousness be restored. The above is the dose for an adult or full-grown person.

2.—Administered to young people the dose should be as follows:—

For those aged from twelve to fifteen years, twenty to twenty-five drops in each dose; for those aged from four to eight years, ten to fifteen drops in each dose; and for infants under four years, from three up to ten drops in each dose, according to period of life; and in each case the dose must be given mixed with a quantity of water and oil.

3.—The mode of employment in every case is the same as that above described—viz: a dose at intervals of ten or fifteen minutes till the symptoms of collapse subside and sensibility and warmth on surface be restored; the greatest care being always taken to mix a sufficiency of water and oil with each dose, so as to enable it to be swallowed without pain, the quantity varying with the strength of the dose, but not less than in proportion to that directed in the case of adults.

4.—Three or four doses will generally be sufficient to relieve the patient, but the remedy may safely be continued as long as there is need, till consciousness returns, and the symptoms of poisoning subside.

RULES TO BE OBSERVED IN THE TREATMENT OF SNAKE-BITES.

1.—On any person being bitten by a snake, he should immediately tie a thin cord, or strip of cloth rolled up in the form of cord, tightly round the limb, about an inch above the bite, for by this means the poison is prevented from entering the body. The cord should not be removed for some hours.

2.—Scarcinations should be freely made with a knife, razor, or any sharp instrument procurable, over the bitten part. These cuts should, if possible, be made through the punctures caused by the snake's teeth. Blood should be allowed to flow from the wounds, and bleeding induced by every means possible, as by so doing the poison is actually washed out.

3.—The best way of insuring free bleeding and extraction of the poison is by a person sucking the wound after the cuts have been made. Another person's mouth, or the sufferer's own if practicable, may be applied. Suction should be continuously kept up for half-an-hour at least.

4.—There is no fear of injury happening to a person by sucking the bitten part. The poison will have no effect either by entering the mouth or by being swallowed. No person with a cut on the lip or tongue should attempt to suck a poisoned wound.

5.—Whatever stimulants are most easily and readily procurable should at once be administered. Two table-spoonful of brandy, rum, or other spirits, twenty or thirty drops of Liquor Ammonia in two table-spoonful of water and oil should be given every hour or half-hour, and continued as long as any symptoms of faintness or drowsiness appear.

DIRECTIONS TO ACCOMPANY VIAL OF LIQUOR AMMONIA.

TREATMENT FOR CASES OF SNAKE-BITE.

1.—This medicine (Liquor Ammonia), if promptly and properly used, will inevitably cure people from the bite of all kinds of snakes; and if those bitten be otherwise sick, or if they happen to be women in the family way, this medicine will do them no harm.

2.—The following directions must be carefully attended to:—

1st. As soon as possible after the bite, a string must be tightly tied round above the bitten part to prevent the poison flowing towards the heart.

2nd. The bite must be immediately cut open a little by any instrument, and as much blood as possible must be squeezed out by some means. Sucking is best, and the poison will not do the slightest harm to the sucker's mouth, unless it be scratched, and very little even then.

3rd. After as much blood as possible is taken out, a little of the Liquor Ammonia must be applied to the wound on cotton wool, lint, or soft rag.

4th. The medicine must now be quickly given internally in doses according to the bitten person's age as follows:—

AGE.	STRONGEST AMMONIA.	WATER.
To a grown-up person	55 drops	In rather more than a wine-glassful
From 12 to 15 years old	20 to 25	In 3½ table-spoonful.
„ 8 to 12 „ „	15 to 20 „	In 3 „
„ 4 to 8 „ „	10 to 15 „	In 2½ „
Infants up to four years	3 to 10 „	In 2 „

With each dose must be mixed a tea or dessert spoonful of salad or any other oil.

3.—If the sick person's head has become deranged or heavy, the dose must be given every twelve minutes, until the head becomes well, and after that small doses must be given every four hours, until all the bad symptoms disappear.

4.—If the bite be given by a whip snake, or one that kills quickly, the doses must be larger, and they must be given more frequently until the patient gets better.

5.—But if the bite be given by a carpet, diamond, or some slow-killing snake, then about twenty drops must be given three times a day to a grown-up person, but this must be increased if the bad effects of the poison get worse.

6.—If the bitten person be just on the point of death, this medicine should be always given, as it has frequently cured people even in this state.

7.—When the patient has lock-jaw from the effect of the poison, or when his head is very bad, it should be held up and the bottle placed close under his nose for him to smell.

8.—The bottle should be always kept tightly stoppered, or the strength of the medicine will go quickly; a little wax round the stoppered vial will keep the strength in.

9.—When the medicine has been often used, the strength of the remainder becomes less, therefore more drops should then be given. This must not be forgotten.

10.—Sometimes the stopper sticks in the bottle and is difficult to take out; in this case, the stopper and neck of the bottle should be gently struck with a piece of iron or some metal, which will loosen the stopper. A little oil applied to the stopper before it is put into the bottle will prevent its sticking.

11.—Every means must be used to keep the patient awake, and on no account must he be allowed to sleep until out of danger.

12.—The bite of the Centipede, Tarantula, Scorpion, &c. may be cured in a few minutes by the external application of Liquor Ammonia; and if necessary it must also be given internally as above directed.

13.—All animals may be treated as above directed, but the dose must be proportioned to the size of the beast; for instance a full-grown bullock, cow, or horse, will require a good table-spoonful of liquor Ammonia, mixed with a pint of oil at least.

EVERGREEN SHRUBS.

THE following is a list of a few hardy evergreen shrubs suited for ornamental planting, and which are seldom seen except in the gardens of those who are more advanced in horticultural taste and the knowledge of the beautiful.

Unfortunately there is a strong disposition among planters to do just as their neighbours do, and so we get the ugly, stiff, American aloe, and the formal seedy-looking cypress or arborvitæ, at every cottage door; plants adapted well enough for cemeteries and for strong contrasts with other trees in large shrubberies, but certainly occupying places where more beautiful and cheerful forms of vegetable life might be planted.

Let us commend the following to the attention of those desirous of growing this beautiful class of plants. They will be found to gratify both in bloom and foliage the most exacting taste.

Rhododendron varieties; best in peaty soil.

Magnolia grandiflora; in rich garden soil.

Aucuba Japonica; cool shady situation.

Azaleas; giving abundant bloom, in peaty soil.

Lagunaria Pattersonii; a beautiful pyramidal tree, with pink blossoms.

Ceanothus divaricus; a beautiful, quick-growing, glossy foliaged plant, with perfumed blue flowers.

The Norfolk Island pine tribe (Araucaria varieties), with their beautiful plummy branches and elegant shape.

Photinia serrulata, is a plant with beautiful foliage, varying from crimson to deep green, of quick growth, and characteristic habit.

Acmena Kingiana, with Eugenia myrtifolia and Pittosporum nigrescens, are also exquisitely foliaged shrubs.

Arbutus unedo, Gardenia florida, Berberis Darwinii, Tree-box, Portugal laurel, Hakea eucalyptoides, Cestrum aurantiacum, Daphne odorata of exquisite odour, Escallonia argentea, Habrothamnus elegans, silky Podalyria, Polygala grandiflora, Swainsonii Osburnii are truly very beautiful evergreen shrubs, which will at all seasons of the year delight the eyes of the grower, and all of them will grow in any average garden soil, without much care and attention.

DECIDUOUS SHRUBS.

WE have spoken of some of the most beautiful of the evergreen class, it remains for us to name a few of the beautiful deciduous shrubs, or those which shed their leaves in the autumn, and with the spring resume their foliage and beautiful flowers.

First, then, the double blossomed cherry, peach, and plum; a group of marvellous beauty during the months of September and October.

Next come the Weigelia rosea, with its profusion of apple-like blossom; the Aralia japonica, with its large fern-like leaves; the yellow and purple laburnums; the exquisite Deutzia scabra, with its orange-like bloom; the Magnolia conspicua, with its gaudy painted flowers, sans foliage; the gay Philadelphus coronarius; the Pyrus japonica; the rose acacia; the Daubentonia puniceus; the old flowering currant (Ribes sanguinea); the old favourite lilac; the towering "Tree of Heaven" (Ailantus glandulosa), and the stately sumach; the sweet chesnut; the Judas tree; the Salvia barbata; are all plants of rare beauty, and most of them are uncommon in the gardens of Victoria, though perfectly hardy and easy of culture.

CLIMBING AND TWINING PLANTS.

WE now come to the interesting and beautiful class of plants which seem designed by nature for decorating bare or unsightly objects with their rich foliage and their gorgeous bloom. It is surely from ignorance as to what to plant that nearly every cottage, verandah, or trellis is covered with the perpetual Cape ivy or the heavy looking dolichos, both of which speedily become seedy looking and ragged in their growth. Let the planter who is desirous of greater variety, and fine cheerful contrasts in colour, select from the following:—Wistaria sinensis, with its gorgeous spikes of pale blue, fragrant blossoms; Bignonias, of glossy foliage and brilliant scarlet flowers; Tecoma jasminoides, with its fine habit and peach coloured flowers; Cobea scandens, and Lophospermum Hendersonii, with their rapid growth, purple and pink flowers; Dissemma coccinea, with Tacsonia Mortii, and manicata (the crimson and scarlet passion flowers) all quite hardy; *Hoya carnos*a, the tender wax plant of the English hothouse, still very sensitive to our spring frosts, but growing well in any warm, dry aspect; the deliciously perfumed Jasminum grandiflorum; the pretty purple Maurandya, with its tiny leaves and dense growth; the ever fragrant Clematis odorata; the beautiful orange coloured Calempelis scabra; and, lastly, the lovely white and yellow Banksia roses, than which no plants are more suitable for training over a verandah, as they are without thorns, and, therefore, are not likely to become a nuisance, in tearing the clothes of the passer-by.

We have not spoken here of the many beautiful annuals which may be sown, but which die in the autumn; neither have we exhausted the list of the perennial climbers. We have given those of which we have had experience. They are all hardy; and to the cottager, it is of little use naming those which require greenhouse treatment.

GARDENING.

In selecting land for garden and orchard purposes, avoid the cold tenacious clays and the loose sands of many districts. The former, from the absence of organic matter, can only be made productive by the expenditure of much labor in trenching and repeated cropping and working in dry weather; while the latter, except where deeply worked to the subsoil, are comparatively valueless unless under repeated heavy manuring. The soils most to be desired for Horticultural purposes are the alluvial deposits in the bends of rivers and creeks; the old chocolate soils, generally adjoining the "stony rises" so prevalent in this colony; and the rich black soils formed by the more recent decomposition of basalt.

Next to the character of the soil, stands in importance the facility for easy drainage, and no matter how tempting the position or quality of the soil, let this be regarded as an essential requirement. If practicable, select only land the condition of which you have had the opportunity of observing in winter. In the absence of this knowledge be careful to note if cattle have left the marks of their feet visible in deep indentations, colonially termed "glue-pots." If so, it has arisen from the water lodging on the ground during winter; and such land, where no natural inclination for drainage exists, should be avoided as totally unfit for Horticultural purposes. All labor expended on it, in the way of trenching, would be thrown away; and fruit trees would rarely give any result commensurate with the labor and money expended.

Where, however, such land is already occupied, there is no help left but to do the best with it. It should be thrown up in ridges; but deep trenching is not advantageous, as the adhesive nature of the soil tends to retain the water at the roots during the winter, and the summer but serves to harden the subsoil—cracking the ground and injuring roots crossing the fissures so formed.

CALENDAR OF OPERATIONS.

JANUARY.

In favourable seasons the following may be sown for medium crops; but if, as is frequently the case, no rain falls, and the ground is parched, sowing should not be attempted, unless facilities for irrigation exist:—Peas, of early kinds; early kidney potatoes, for late autumn use; turnips, a full crop; celery, under shade; Brussels sprouts, a few; N. Z. spinach; and maize, for green fodder.

Melons, cucumbers, marrows, and pumpkins should not be allowed to suffer from drought; and especially is this caution needed in newly planted fruit trees. Budding of roses should be preceded with, as favourable weather offers. Thumb pruning—the rubbing off of shoots, which if allowed to grow, would require knife pruning in the season—should be largely practised on fruit trees this month. Ripening fruits will require attention.

FEBRUARY.

If the weather last month was unpromising, the sowing of seeds named will have been deferred: sow now without delay, adding to the list—Kidney beans, cauliflower, winter spinach, lettuce, mustard, cress, and radish, weather permitting. Success will vary with the season.

A general oversight of such permanent crops as rhubarb, asparagus, seakale, &c., is required, the roots being frequently eaten away by wood-lice and other vermin that accumulate in moist spots. Plant out celery in damp weather in shaded trenches; also strong stocky plants of late brocoli, and others, of the Brassica tribe, in fit condition. Continue budding roses, and such fruit trees as are recommended, viz. peaches, plums, apricots, &c. Dahlias planted last month will require care, as no plant suffers more from drought, and, when well grown, no plant is more ornamental in the garden during autumn.

MARCH.

Celery, plant out main crop. Lettuce, endive, radish, cross, early potatoes, white Dutch turnips, and quick podding peas, should be sown for light crops.

Carrots and onions should be stored; the former buried in sand, and the latter hung up in "reeves." Apples and pears, of certain kinds, will be ripening, and will require gathering and storing. Wine making will be an important item of business this month (see Wine Making, p. 64). Prepare land for annuals, and carefully fork over and clean flower garden; cutting back straggling or expended growth of verbenas, petunias, ageratums, and languishing herbaceous plants.

APRIL.

Clear away asparagus where turning yellow; as also rhubarb, and such declining crops. Earth up advancing crops of celery, keeping such moist and growing. Sow lettuce, spinach, small salads, cauliflower, and of early peas lightly. Transplant any of the cabbage family you may have in condition, as also lettuce; and plant out potato onions, for spring use.

Have beds prepared for bulbous flowering plants—tulips, anemones, rununculus, nycinthus, &c. Divide and plant out the choice kinds of pansies, holyhocks, polyanthus, primrose and mimulus. Pansies may be propagated by cuttings, under glass, and by side shoots, under light cover. This is the best month for planting cuttings or slips taken from the grassy growth of carnations, picotees, and good pinks. These should have more attention than is usually paid to them in this colony, for no flower is more suitable for a warm climate, as it keeps fresh looking and fragrant for several days after cutting. Take up and replant rooted layers, but deferred till next month will be better. Sow hardy annuals in dry, well drained borders.

MAY.

Asparagus beds should have a light forking and top-dressing of well decomposed manure. Seakale and rhubarb beds should also be forked and enriched; and new plantations made. Lettuce, peas, broad beans, and spinach, should be sown. Garlic, eschalottes, and potato onions, may be planted at the end of this month. Annuals should be sown on prepared patches, and care taken that slugs do not destroy them as they sprout.

Give all the borders a good dressing of manure; so, that in place of weedy looking annuals, and sickly looking roses and shrubs, you may have something beautiful to look at. It is a great mistake to suppose that because flowers grow wild in the bush, they may be grown in a garden without cultivation.

JUNE.

Sow sparingly of the following, as the ensuing rainy season is seldom favourable for full crops of vegetables:—Early peas, horn carrots, parsnips, onions, salads, and winter spinach.

Thin, and keep free from weeds, seed-beds of advancing crops. Earth up celery as required. Attend to the planting of fruit trees on prepared land; and also the formation of new vineyards: carefully removing the rooted cuttings—where such are used—from the bed. Gooseberries, currants, raspberries, and the runners of strawberries should be planted out in permanent, well prepared beds. Plant out seedling annuals, and shelter from heavy rains. Plant out hedges of roses, sweet briar, furze, Cape broom, Spanish broom, quicks, Osage orange, as may be desired, this month. Deep culture and careful cutting is necessary in growing a good regular hedge.

JULY.

Seakale and a few plants rhubarb may be covered with pots or casks for blanching, which is effected by heaping up around the pots, fermenting stable manure. Use discretion in sowing carrots, parsnips, salad, &c., just as the month is favorable or not. Of peas, broad beans, kale, spinach, cabbage, and cauliflower, sow a medium crop.

This is the month for pruning most fruit trees. Water should not be permitted to rest about bulbs. During wet weather it is labor lost to attempt the digging of clayey soils. Tie up crysanthemums that are of straggling growth.

AUGUST.

This and the next are the two most active months of the year as regards seed-time. Full sowings of peas, broad beans, onions, carrots, beet, parsnips, round seeded spinach, cabbages, cauliflower, potatoes, ground or Jerusalem artichokes, leeks, salads, &c., should be attended to.

The grafting of fruit trees will need prompt attention. Disbud and train pot plants, such as fuschias, geraniums, and roses. Sow hardy annuals in prepared patches; and more tender kinds in pots and pans for subsequent transplanting. Plant out layers and rooted cuttings of such bedding plants as petunias, pinks, pansies, double wallflower, &c.

SEPTEMBER.

Should the weather have been unfavorable during last month for the operations named, embrace early opportunity of completing them during September. It is well also to sow again of main crops, so that a season may not be lost in case of accident to the first sowing. Broad beans are more productive if the head of the plants be taken off. Asparagus beds should be yielding constant cuttings for the table.

The main crop of potatoes should be got in. Lettuce, and the seeds of the more useful herbs may be sown. A few seeds of melons, cucumbers and vegetable marrows may be dibbled in, under frames, and permanent beds prepared for the reception of seeds or established plants next months.

Look carefully to your annuals, whether in open border or growing in pots, for planting out. A little straw should be laid carefully on the beds of strawberries, after freeing from weeds by a good hoeing.

OCTOBER.

The chief attention in the Kitchen Garden this month will be devoted to the advancing seed-beds, thinning out and transplanting where necessary. If an unusual season, and crops look unpromising, sow fresh beds of the leading vegetables, but do not dig up or destroy those already sown.

Sowings may be made of French beans, scarlet runners, cucumbers, melons, pumpkins, marrows, custard squash, tomatoes, chillies and capsicum, spinach, brocoli, kale, and salads.

Potatoes should be hoed and earthed up—dry weather being always selected for such operations. Vines will require attention, and if not previously staked, should be completed early. Where, as is generally the case, too many buds appear, the weak ones should be rubbed off, and as the shoots advance to sufficient size they should be carefully tied to stakes. The best material for this purpose is the "list" cut from the edges of flannel and cloth by tailors. The thinning of such fruits as apricots, peaches, apples, pears, and some kinds of plums, where "set" too thickly, is advantageous. Look carefully to slugs among ripening strawberries. Plant out annuals from pots and pans: and finish sowings of tender kinds in the open border.

NOVEMBER.

Watch narrowly advancing crops; keeping the ground loose and free from weeds. Melons, cucumbers, and marrows, will need constant attention; covering up during cold nights, and very heavy rain and severe winds, and guarding against slugs and red spider; sow again in open ground. Tomatoes may be planted out, and fresh sowings made both of this useful fruit and chillies. Of turnips, peas, and French beans, sow largely.

Early potatoes, in some localities, where fully grown, should be dug. Water strawberries to prolong the fruiting season; guard against slugs, ants, and wood-lice. Tie up raspberry canes loosely to stakes. Finish planting out the tender annuals, and tie up patches needing support. Plant out dahlias for summer blooming, but deferring till January those required for autumn display.

DECEMBER

A few light sowings under shade may be made of celery, cabbage, cucumbers, marrows, and melons.

Keep clean and see that advancing crops do not suffer from drought. Where watering is resorted to, be careful that it is THOROUGHLY done. A little care paid to melons, cucumbers, and, indeed, all the members of the Cucurbita family, will be well repaid in the fruiting season. Trim up hedges of Cape broom after flowering.

THE VERBENA.

No garden should be without its dozen varieties of this beautiful creeping plant. Its culture is very simple, and it stands the heat of summer well, while the variety of colour, and its long continued bloom and dwarf habit, mark it as one of the very best flowering plants for effective display with which we are acquainted. It is propagated by division of the plant, by cuttings, by layers, and by seed. The latter plan should not be adopted by the amateur, for the reason that the seedlings are uncertain, and usually inferior as flowers. Most of the varieties root freely at the joint as they creep along the ground, or may be made to do so by pegging tightly down at intervals with small pegs cut from fern. When well rooted they may be cut from the parent plant, and re-planted. The soil for the verbenas should be of good average quality, not too stiff or clayey, as, if so, it is liable to crack in summer, and in so doing, tear the roots of the plant; nor yet of too light or sandy a character, as such a soil induces a thin, weedy growth, with a fleeting bloom. Enrich the garden soil with well-decayed vegetable manure, and in hot weather water occasionally. No plant so well repays any attention which may be paid to it as the verbenas. The following are first-class varieties:—Foxhunter, a vivid crimson; Monette, prettily striped lilac and white; Landsborough, rose, with pale eye; Beauté Supreme; Variabilis, mottled pink, with crimson eye (one of the best); Amy Robsart, Mrs. Glendinning, Gray, Burke, Wills, Sir Charles Hotham, &c. It is not well to let a plant remain longer than about a year, as when once a hard woody growth is formed, the flowers decline in richness, and the plant ceases to be ornamental. It is a part of good management to have rooted layers ready for planting by the time the parent plant becomes unsightly.

PINKS, CARNATIONS, AND PICOTEES.

No flowers are more suitable for the Australian climate than those of this class. They are very easy of culture, either as pot plants or border flowers, and possess the rare quality of keeping in bloom a long period, even during hot weather; while, as cut flowers, their delicious fragrance and enduring freshness put them far before all other flowers for bouquet purposes. Unfortunately, our stock of good flowers is as yet small in Australia, but in a short time the many merits of the flower will induce our nurserymen to import all the best English and Italian varieties. They all thrive in a sound loam, enriched with well rotted frame manure and leaf mould, with a little river sand added to keep the compost open. Obtain plants in September from a nurseryman. They will bloom profusely during the summer, and may easily be propagated by layers or by slips or pipings of the grassy growth struck in sand. A small grub or caterpillar frequently infests the plant, and destroys the bloom by boring into the flower bud. The plants should, therefore, be carefully looked over. The flower stem will also require tying to light rods stuck in the ground. Carnations are divided into scarlet, crimson, pink, and purple bizarres; and purple, rose, and scarlet flakes. Picotees are of rose, purple, and red edge. They should not be allowed to droop for want of water, as if so the flowers lose in fragrance and substance of petal.

Their tall stems should be secured to light rods as they advance in height, otherwise the wind is liable to break them down. Plants of the Perennial Phlox, of many varieties, may be procured from any nurseryman.

ANNUALS.

We select a few of those beautiful plants of which seed may be purchased in Victoria, and of which we have had experience as to growth and suitability for the Victorian climate. We do not profess to exhaust the list; we are selecting for those who can but attend to a few, and therefore it is that we give the very best—such as we know will give satisfaction:—

Acroclineum roseum.

Balsams.

Cuphea platycentra, crimson.

Delphinium Ajacis, dwarf rocket larkspur.

Dianthus barbatus (Sweet William)

Dianthus Sinensis.

Gaillardia picta, very showy.

Gilia tricolor, an old favourite.

Hollyhock, fine double mixed.

Lobelia formosa, beautiful blue.

Lupins, blue and yellow.

Lychnis fulgens, scarlet.

Marigold, African and French.

Mignonette.

Nasturtium, dwarf and tall.

Nemophila insignis, beautiful blue.

Peas, sweet, mixed.

Potentilla aurea, golden yellow.

Snapdragon (Antirrhinum), of varieties.

Viscaria oculata.

Zinnia elegans, a flower of surpassing brilliancy during the autumn.

THE HONEY BEE.

No cottager should be without a hive or two of bees; for apart from the profit of their honey, they are an endless source of interest to every member of the family who cares to observe closely their high intelligence and their industrious habits. If the keeping of bees is attended with so much profit in England, with its long winter, how much more profitable is it likely to be in a country which is never without flowers, and where the bee may gather its honey forty-five out of the fifty-two weeks of the year.

Unfortunately, most books treating of the honey bee are too technically written, or commence with assuming that every one has bees in his possession. For the purpose of this short notice, however, we will assume that a person is without a stock or hive and is desirous of keeping bees.

His first step is to procure a swarm from some one who has them to dispose of, and he may usually find such advertised in the pages of the Australasian or Weekly Age; or he may bespeak a swarm from some friend who keeps bees. We would strongly recommend him to procure the Ligurian bees in preference to the ordinary ones, as it is found they thrive very well and produce abundance of honey. Mr. Templeton, of Fitzroy, near Melbourne, to whom much of the success attending the introduction (by the Acclimatization Society) of the Ligurian Bee is fairly due, will at all times forward stocks and the necessary information to any one desirous of procuring such.

In bee keeping, as in other things, "a good beginning goes far towards a good ending." We would, therefore, advise the beginner to be careful to avoid the use of old porter and gin cases as being totally unsuitable for hives, and to procure the boxes which experienced aparians have found most suitable. One very good form is that of a shallow frame or box, 15 inches square, whose sides are about 6 or 7 inches deep with bits of glass let in, and with moveable bars at the top. They are sold by most seedsmen for the purpose, and are so arranged as that when filled with honey, another box of similar size and shape may be placed above it, and be removed expeditiously when it in turn becomes full.

Having, then, procured a swarm in the box described, or in any other which may be recommended by a successful bee keeper, place the box on a bench or tressel, about 2 feet from the ground, with a slanting groove or lip cut in the edge to serve as entrance to the hive. This tressel or bench should be strongly made, with feet inclining outward, so that a gust of wind may not blow it over; and to prevent ants, slugs, and other vermin creeping up to the hive and annoying the bees. Its feet should stand in pans or enamelled basins, in which water may be placed from time to time. Fully half the non-success with beginners is owing to want of care in this particular, as if annoyed by any vermin, the bees become fretful, and frequently leave the hive altogether. A light paling-roofed shed, erected over the hive to keep off heavy rains and the direct rays of the sun, is indispensable, though less so perhaps where the old English straw hive is used. If in a locality where there is but little natural pasturage for the bee—or but few flowers—it is well to sow a few patches of mignonette, white clover, lucerne, &c., within the neighbourhood; but if gum trees and wattles, with other native flowering trees and shrubs prevail, this will not be so necessary.

The bees will soon sally forth on their labour of love, returning laden with honey and pollen dust, and upon their activity and the strength of the stock will depend the results. Now will be apparent the use of the glass in the sides of the hive, as by drawing out the zinc or tin slide, with which the glass should be darkened, the progress of the bees can be seen, and the time noted when another box (or super) is required to cover the nearly full first one, and so, by giving more room prevent for a time the throwing off of small swarms.

Of course, we are assuming that honey, and not swarms, is the object, but if the latter are desired, the following mode of procedure should be adopted:—

From six o'clock in the morning till ten or eleven is the time a swarm may be expected to leave the hive. That they are preparing to swarm will be apparent for a day or two previously by the disturbed and excited state of the bees, and by their clustering at the entrance to the hive, without any apparent cause. When the swarm has left, it should be watched, and when it has alighted, as it frequently will, upon some low-growing branch or shrub, within a greater or less distance of the hive, care should be taken that it is not disturbed until the evening when the bees are more compact, and may be easily treated in the manner following:—During the day lay a table cloth or sheet as well as you can on the ground underneath the cluster of bees, and have ready the box or hive in which the new swarm will be kept, having previously smeared the inside with sugar or honey and water. When you see the bees pretty quiet, bend the branch upon which they are clustered down towards the ground, and by a smart rap with a stick shake off the swarm on to the cloth lying on the ground, and place over them quickly the box or hive which you have had in readiness, draw the corners of the cloth tightly over the box, and convey it to the bench on which you desire to place it permanently. Next morning draw out the cloth from under the box, taking care not to kill many bees in this operation. We have adopted this plan without the loss of a dozen bees, and with perfect success. In handling bees never appear flurried or in a rush; do everything necessary in a leisurely, careful manner, and you will rarely get stung.

The bees so treated soon get accustomed to their new abode, and in a day or two commence their work of honey-gathering.

The best aspect for a hive is one facing the east, and protected from the scorching rays of the mid-day and afternoon's sun.

To Gather the Honey.—The following is the plan adopted by us, and herein will be apparent the advantages of the bar and slide hives over the gin case and other clumsy contrivances. With a slide or sheet of zinc, cut off the communications between the lower and the upper box, and gently insert for a few minutes in the upper box a bit of smouldering cotton rag. In a short time the bees in the box to be taken will become stupefied or inactive, when the box may be removed and an empty one placed in its stead, and the zinc slide withdrawn, so as to admit the bee.

The box of honey and bees just taken should be turned over, and the bees removed. Upon exposure to the air they will quickly recover, and seek the hive. The combs of honey should be cut out of the box with a knife, and laid to drain on bars placed across shallow pans, or the honey may be preserved in the combs entire—this at the option of the gatherer.

There are, of course, many details of management which experience alone will teach the beekeeper; but the foregoing will suffice for the beginner. If, however, it is intended to adopt the keeping of bees on a large scale, then it would be well to consult some of the larger works on the subject.

RESTORATION OF THE APPARENTLY DROWNED.

THE leading principles of the following directions for the restoration of the apparently dead from drowning are founded on those of the late Dr. Marshall Hall, combined with those of Dr. H. R. Silvester, and are the result of extensive enquiries which were made by the Institution in 1863-4 amongst medical men, medical bodies, and coroners throughout the United Kingdom. These directions have been extensively circulated by the Institution throughout the United Kingdom and in the colonies. They are also in use in Her Majesty's fleet, and in the Coast Guard Service.

1. Send immediately for medical assistance, blankets, and dry clothing, but proceed to treat the patient, instantly on the spot, and in the open air, with the face downwards, whether on shore or afloat; exposing the face, neck, and chest to the wind, except in severe weather, removing all tight clothing from the neck and chest, especially the braces.

The points to be aimed at are :—first and immediately the restoration of breathing; and secondly, after breathing is restored, the promotion of warmth and circulation.

The efforts to restore breathing must be commenced immediately and energetically, and persevered in for one or two hours, or until a medical man has pronounced that life is extinct. Efforts to promote warmth and circulation, beyond removing the wet clothes and drying the skin, must not be made until the first appearance of natural breathing, for if circulation of the blood be induced before breathing has recommenced, the restoration to life will be endangered.

2. TO RESTORE BREATHING.

To Clear the Throat—place the patient on the floor or ground with the face downwards, and one of the arms under the forehead, in which position all fluids will more readily escape by the mouth, and the tongue itself will fall forward, leaving the entrance into the windpipe free. Assist this operation by wiping and cleansing the mouth.

If satisfactory breathing commences, use the treatment prescribed below to promote warmth. If there be only slight breathing—or no breathing—or if the breathing fail, then—

To Excite Breathing—Turn the patient well and instantly on the side, supporting the head, and Excite the nostrils with snuff, hartshorn, and smelling salts, or tickle the throat with a feather, &c., if they are not at hand. Rub the chest and face warm, and dash cold water, or cold and hot water alternately, on them.

If there be no success, lose not a moment, but instantly

To Imitate Breathing—Replace the patient on the face, raising and supporting the chest well on a folded coat or other article of dress.

Turn the body very gently on the side and a little beyond, and then briskly on the face, back again; repeating these measures cautiously, efficiently, and perseveringly about fifteen times in the minute, or once every four or five seconds—occasionally varying the side.

[By placing the patient on the chest, the weight of the body forces the air out; when turned on the side this pressure is removed, and air enters the chest.]

On each occasion that the body is replaced on the face, make uniform but efficient pressure with brisk movement on the back between and below the shoulder-blades or bones on each side, removing the pressure immediately before turning the body on the side.

During the whole of the operations let one person attend solely to the movements of the head, and of the arm placed under it.

[The first measure commences the expiration—the second commences inspiration.]

* * The result is respiration or natural breathing; and if not too late, life.

Whilst the above operations are being proceeded with, dry the hands and feet; and as soon as dry clothing or blankets can be procured, strip the body, and cover, or gradually reclothe it; but taking care not to interfere with the efforts to restore breathing.

3. Should these efforts not prove successful in the course of from two to five minutes, proceed to imitate breathing by Dr. Silvester's method as follows:—

Place the patient on the back on a flat surface inclined a little upwards from the feet; raise and support the head and shoulders on a small firm cushion or folded article of dress placed under the shoulder-blades.

Draw forward the patient's tongue and keep it projecting beyond the lips - an elastic band over the tongue and under the chin will answer this purpose, or a piece of string or tape may be tied round them, or by raising the lower jaw the teeth may be made to retain the tongue in that position. Remove all tight clothing from about the neck and chest, especially the braces.

To Imitate the Movements of Breathing—Standing at the patient's head, grasp the arm just above the elbows, and draw the arms gently and steadily upwards above the head, and keep them stretched upwards for two seconds. (By this means air is drawn into the lungs.) Then turn down the patient's arms and press them gently and firmly for two seconds against the sides of the chest. (By this means air is pressed out of the lungs.)

Repeat these measures alternately, deliberately, and perseveringly, about fifteen times in a minute, until spontaneous effort to respire is perceived, immediately upon which cease to imitate the movement of breathing, and proceed to induce circulation and warmth.

4. TREATMENT AFTER NATURAL BREATHING HAS BEEN RESTORED.

To Promote Warmth and Circulation—Commence rubbing the limbs upwards, with firm grasping pressure and energy, using handkerchiefs, flannels, &c. (By this means the blood is propelled along the veins, towards the heart.)

The friction must be continued under the blanket or over the dry clothing.

Promote the warmth of the body by the application of hot flannels, bottles or bladders of hot water, heated bricks, &c., to the pit of the stomach, the arm pits, between the thighs, and to the soles of the feet.

If the patient has been carried to a house after respiration has been restored, be careful to let the air play freely about the room.

On restoration of life, a teaspoonful of warm water should be given; and then, if the power of swallowing have returned, small quantities of wine, warm brandy and water, or coffee should be administered. The patient should be kept in bed, and a disposition to sleep encouraged.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS.

The above treatment should be persevered in for some hours, as it is an erroneous opinion that persons are irrecoverable because life does not soon make its appearance, persons having been restored after persevering for many hours.

APPEARANCES WHICH GENERALLY ACCOMPANY DEATH.

Breathing and the heart's action cease entirely; the eyelids are generally half closed, the pupils dilated; the jaws clenched; the fingers semi-contracted; the tongue approaches to the under edges of the lips; and these, as well as the nostrils, are covered with a frothy mucous. Coldness and pallor of surface increase.

CAUTIONS.

Prevent unnecessary crowding of persons round the body, especially if in an apartment.

Avoid rough usage, and do not allow the body to remain on the back unless the tongue is secured.

Under no circumstances hold the body up by the feet.

On no account place the body in a warm bath, unless under medical direction, and even then it should only be employed as a momentary excitant.

THIS Bank is established for the purpose of receiving Deposits for fixed periods, and Lending on Freehold Property, on the system of Land Credit, which has been attended with marked success in Europe, India, Canada, &c.

Deposit Receipts are issued, and Interest is allowed at the following rates:—

On Deposits for 12 Months (fixed)...	8 per cent.	per annum.
Do. 6 Months do.	7 do.	do.
Do. 3 Months do.	6 do.	do.
Do. at Call	2½ do.	do.

The Deposits of the Bank are secured by the whole of its Invested Funds, and by the additional guarantee of the uncalled Capital.

The investment of the funds of the Bank is restricted by the Articles of Association to Real Estate in Victoria, and the amount of Deposits can never exceed the subscribed capital, thus affording to Depositors the most undoubted security.

The Bank also acts as General Financial Agent, and undertakes the Investment of the Capital of Absentees, Trustees, and others, in first-class Mortgages in Victoria, to pay Investors 8 per cent. per annum, the interest on such Investments being guaranteed and paid half-yearly, at the Offices of the Bank.

Loans are made on Freehold Property at current rates, repayable by instalments if required. Arrangements may also be made for obtaining a Cash-credit on the basis of approved Freehold Security, by which interest would be chargeable only on the sum used.

Further particulars may be obtained on application to

W. PATERSON MUIR, Manager.

PRIVATE INQUIRY OFFICE,

Established A.D. 1866

78 Elizabeth street, Melbourne, Victoria.

THE undersigned respectfully begs to notify to the public that, having been connected with the General Police and Detective Departments of New South Wales and Victoria for a period of ten years, he has now opened a Private Inquiry Office, on the model of Inspector Field's, London, and begs to call the attention of the public generally to the facilities offered by this office in reference to finding Missing Friends, as inquiries in such cases will be followed up with the greatest care and attention. He trusts, from his personal knowledge of the colonists of Australia, to give every satisfaction to those who may favour him with their patronage.

COPIES:

Understanding that Mr. Berliner does not seek an appointment under this Government, with whose patronage it would be unbecoming in me to interfere, I have no hesitation in stating that, so far as my means of observation as Chief Justice extends, Mr. Berliner is an active and efficient officer, possessed of sagacity and discretion.

Melbourne, Dec. 13, 1865.

(Signed) W. F. STAWELL,
Chief Justice of the Colony of Victoria.

I concur in the last Testimonial, so far as my means of observation extend.

Melbourne, Dec. 14, 1865.

(Signed) ROBT. MOLESWORTH,
One of Her Majesty's Judges at the Supreme Court of Melbourne.

I fully believe Mr. Berliner to be a most efficient officer, from the knowledge I have had of the performance of his duties.

Dec. 14, 1865.

(Signed) EDWARD E. WILLIAMS,
One of Her Majesty's Judges at the Supreme Court of Melbourne.

I have had many opportunities as Chairman of General Sessions for the District of Bourke of observing the intelligence and zeal of Mr. Berliner as a member of the Detective Force. It has often occurred to me that he is qualified for a better position than he has held.

Melbourne, December 7th, 1865.

(Signed) R W POHLMAN,
Chairman of General Sessions.

I have no hesitation in certifying to my knowledge of the conduct and character of Otto Berliner, lately of the Detective Police Force. He has been much under my observation for many years, he is thoroughly sober, strictly honest and trustworthy, with a considerable amount of judgment and acumen in the pursuit of police inquiries.

Melbourne, 6 | 12 | 65.

(Signed) E. P. S. STURT,
Police Magistrate of Victoria.

Mr. Otto Berliner was well known to me, while employed in the Detective Police Force of this colony, at the gold-fields of Indigo and Wahgunyah, during the years 1859-61. Mr. Berliner's conduct during that time was marked by the greatest zeal and attention to his duties, and, during the time he remained in the district under my supervision, I had every reason to be pleased with the manner in which he carried out the onerous and difficult functions of his office.

Beechworth, Victoria, Dec. 11, 1865.

(Signed) WM. H GAUNT,
One of Her Majesty's Wardens for the Gold-fields and a Police Magistrate for Victoria.

Bank of New South Wales, Melbourne, 1st Dec., 1865.

OTTO BERLINER,

Sir,—In March last year, a letter was addressed to the Superintendent of the Detective Department of Police, by me, expressing the bank's appreciation of your conduct and ability in detecting, arresting, and securing the conviction of the forger Nelson. Understanding that you are now desirous of obtaining some settled and permanent employment, I am anxious to place this on record, and may add that I am of opinion that you would prove a useful officer in any department of business where energy and trustworthiness were essential.

I am, your obedient servant
(Signed) J. BADCOCK, Manager of the Bank of N.S.W.

VICTORIAN ACADEMY OF MUSIC,

119 COLLINS STREET EAST, MELBOURNE.

THIS Institution is established on the plan of the Conservatoire in BERLIN, the complete success of which, for many years, has placed beyond a doubt that the system of instruction by means of Classes in the science and art of Music, is the best that can be adopted, a similar system having been introduced into England by Logier, and adopted by all the principal Academies on the Continent with the most beneficial results.

In opposition to the plan of private lessons Class Teaching is the most profitable to the student (whether advanced or only a beginner). The lessons are longer and more varied, and the participation in them by a number of pupils at one and the same time, creates a spirit of emulation, excites a desire for study, and heightens the interest of the pupils in their work, which they are encouraged to follow up from a mere rudimental stage to that of excellence, they being enabled to do so from the very moderate fees demanded in comparison with those charged for Private Instruction.

CLASSES.—Harmony, Counterpoint, Fugue, and Composition, Mr. C. E. Horsely; Pianoforte, Messrs. Schott and Herz; Organ and Harmonium, Herr J. Herz; Singing, Messrs. Schott and Castelli; Harp, Mr. S. Marsh; Violin, Mr. E. King; Flute, Herr Julius Siede.

At the February Examination at the University of Melbourne, two out of the three Exhibitions annually awarded at Matriculation, viz., the Mathematical and the Classical, were awarded to Samuel Leon, a pupil of this School. Since the establishment of the University of Melbourne, a Double First, as it is called, that is, the same student carrying the highest honours in Mathematics and Classics, at Matriculation, has been won only thrice, and on two of those occasions the honour has fallen to pupils of this School.

MALDEN ISLAND GUANO,

£7 5s. per Ton,
(BAGS INCLUDED), DELIVERED IN MELBOURNE.

Each Bag is branded
PHOSPHATIC GUANO, FROM MALDEN ISLAND.
B. B. NICHOLSON & CO.,
59 Bourke st. west,
MELBOURNE.

THE undersigned are the only importers of this valuable Guano, which contains nearly 80 per cent. Phosphate, with small quantities of Sulphate and Carbonate of Lime, but quite free from Sand or Earthy Matter.

The above Guano will be found a most useful Manure, when applied to all soils, but especially so when put on those that are poor or exhausted from overcropping.

It is well known that the soils of the Colony are deficient in all sorts of Lime; the Malden Island Guano is rich in those constituents; therefore more suitable, as a manure, than the hot and stimulating Peruvian, which can only be used successfully in forcing crops on rich lands. For all general agricultural purposes the Malden Island Guano will be found better than the Peruvian, and costs only half the price.

£7 5s. per Ton, Bags included, delivered in Melbourne.
